

Greetings D&D Attack Wing fans!

With the first D&D Attack Wing Story Line Organized Play Event, Tyranny of Dragons, just around the corner we wanted to create a program overview to help everyone get a good idea of what to expect. This OP event has some key differences from any we have done in the past. We wanted to take this opportunity to go over the new parts of this program.

- Participants in the D&D Attack Wing Tyranny of Dragons program will have the option to purchase Exclusive Limited Edition Attack Wing version of Tiamat Figures.
  - For every month six OP kit a store orders, the store will have the option to order up to two of these Tiamat figures.
  - The Tiamat figure is not directly tied to the OP Program and as a result the Tiamat figure is not covered under the PPLA. This means that it will be in retail friendly packaging and can be sold to the public at any time after the release date.
  - The Tiamat figure will be released prior to the Month 6 kit. Therefore, retailers will be able to sell and display the Tiamat figure before the conclusion of the OP Program. PLEASE NOTE – Any customer that purchases a Tiamat figure CANNOT use the figure or any cards that come with it in ANY D&D Attack Wing Tyranny of Dragons OP tournament.
  - Month six OP kits do NOT have a grand prize in them but WizKids recommends that one of the Tiamat figures is utilized as the grand prize.
  - Regardless of if a store plans on using a Tiamat figure as the grand prize for their D&D Attack Wing Tyranny of Dragons OP program they should notify their players of their intentions during month one of the event and plan their entry fees for their events accordingly.
  - Stores that order OP month 6 kits, receive Tiamats and then cancel their OP month 6 kits will be restricted in future programs.

- Blind boosters for D&D Attack Wing Tyranny of Dragons OP sealed play will also be available. They will first be available for month two of the program, and we expect to have inventory until at least month four. However, boosters will only be available while supplies last and will be limited based on OP kit and general D&D Attack Wing purchases.

- Blind boosters for D&D Attack Wing Tyranny of Dragons OP sealed play are covered by the PPLA and cannot be marked for resale. They can only be used for tournament purposes.

- Suggested Formats - Please note that if boosters are not available we recommend that a constructed tournament is ran using one of the below recommended point values. Additionally, if a store so chooses, they may require the purchase and use of an expansion pack as an alternate entry requirement.
  - One Night Event:

- Recommended format: 120 points. For months 2-6, we recommend players bring 90 points and 30 points are added from the random boosters. Play to one winner.
- League Play:
  - Recommended format: 200 points. As little as one game per night, run over several weeks with a winner declared at the end. For months 2-6, players bring 170 points and 30 points are added from random boosters.
- General Tournament Information:
  - Each session, regardless of if they are one night or league, players accumulate points toward being the winner of that month.
  - If a store chooses to award a grand prize (Tiamat), the grand prize winner is the person with the highest amount of points across all tournaments in all six months.
  - The person with the highest amount of points in each month, across all games that month, wins the prize for that month.
  - The person with the highest amount of points across all tournaments in all six months wins the grand prize (Tiamat) if the store chooses to use Tiamat as a grand prize.
  - The later months of the program are worth more points toward the grand prize. This is to encourage people who did poorly early on to continue playing in tournaments.
- The monthly point system allows more exciting play in the final months as players have the ability to score more points. So players who are learning or missed an early event can still compete to be the overall winner of D&D Attack Wing Tyranny of Dragons. The point system breaks down as:
  - In month one through three players receive, One (1) Point for attending event, One (1) Point per Loss, and Two (2) Points per Win.
  - In month four players receive, One (1) Point for attending event, One (1) Point per Loss, Two (2) Points per Win, and One (1) Points per Event Win.
  - In month five players receive, One (1) Point for attending event, One (1) Point per Loss, Two (2) Points per Win, Two (2) Points per Event Win.
  - In month six players receive, One (1) Point for attending event, One (1) Point per Loss, Four (4) Points per Win, Three (3) Points per Event Win.
    - If a player receives a bye it counts neither as a win nor a loss, but they receive the same points as a win. This is the case for all six months.
- Alternate Format – 2v2 Teams – One Night or League:
  - Players come to the tournament with teams of 2 or are matched at the store.
  - Each player on a team brings a 60 or 120 Legion Point force (or modified with the booster buy in).
  - Players play on the standard 3' x 3' play area.
  - Each player plans maneuvers, attacks, and actions for his or her own figures.
  - Abilities that affect friendly creatures affect all creatures on that team, regardless of who the owner is.
  - The initiative token is held by the whole team.

- Teams are allowed to strategize but may only do so publicly (The other team must be able to hear them). They may also not show each other their selected maneuvers.
  - Other viable formats include teams bringing 90 or 170 total points of forces, opening a booster and then forming two teams that total 120 and 200 point. No player's forces should be more than 20 points apart from their team mate.
  - Once a team has been declared a winner they may decide what to do with the grand prize, or do a final fight to determine the ultimate winner.
- Stores may order more than one OP kit per month in order to run both styles of tournament if there purchase history reflects it. Contact your distributor for more information.
- Registering for D&D Attack Wing Tyranny of Dragons
    - Participating stores will need to have registered in the WizKids Event System (WES) in order to schedule D&D Attack Wing Tyranny of Dragons events and or order OP material from there distributor.
    - Stores that have not registered in the WizKids Event System can do so here.
    - Stores must schedule and report the results of all of their D&D Attack Wing Tyranny of Dragons OP events to the WES.
    - Proper usage of the WES and continued support of the D&D Attack Wing product line will determine whether a store will continue to receive D&D Attack Wing Tyranny of Dragons OP support.
